

This is not at all acceptable. If you have a Session you should have mentioned it earlier or you should have pinged your mentor. You have a group Leader / Batch Leader/batch Mentor least you should have updated anyone and discussed the upcoming session schedule. Your expert is posting session details a day before the session. so you have more than 24 hours for the next day's session. you should have explained your situation and explained to the mentors.