

The Lost Necklace

Lily found a beautiful necklace in her grandmother's attic, shining like a forgotten treasure. She felt an overwhelming joy, imagining how delighted her grandmother would be to see it.

But as she turned around, a cold draft blew through the room, making her shiver. The shadows seemed to move, and she felt a creeping sense of fear.

Suddenly, her little brother dashed in, startling her. He knocked the necklace from her hands, and it tumbled down a gap in the floorboards.

Lily's joy turned to anger as she scolded him, her voice rising. Tears welled up in his eyes, and he ran out of the room, leaving Lily feeling guilty.

She knelt down, peering into the gap, her heart heavy with sadness. The necklace was gone, and with it, a precious connection to her grandmother.
